

2023 PINOT NOIR FELIX HUNTER VINEYARD

ABOUT

Jay Morris, the grower, owns vineyards in both the Petaluma Gap AVA, as well this vineyard west of the town of Sebastopol which can be denoted as Sonoma Coast or Green Valley AVA. As such, the fruit benefits from a very cool climate, leading to great acidity and a layered flavor profile. This vineyard is named after Jay's grandfather who was the first farmer in the family and is a name carried forth in the family line. The 2023 vintage began with a cool spring and held steady with a long hangtime. The flavors are full but the wine retains nice acid.

TASTING NOTES

NOSE Complex spices, pomegranate. Rainier cherry

PALATE Ripe raspberry, cranberry, highly structured mouthfeel with hints of clove

FINISH Substantial and lingering tannins

CHEF NOTES

This Pinot would be beautiful with a braised short rib with star anise. The warm spice complements the clove, and the rich sauce handles the substantial tannins. Or keep it simple with a cheese board of aged Gouda, Manchego and Stilton.
